

1) The University of Washington has a new head coach in Mike Neighbors. He does an excellent job of putting his players in positions to score.
 2) In this 1-4 high set you will see him overload a side and get a flare screen for his best shooter, who is Kelsey Plum.
 3) Brandon Clay & Chris Hansen were on hand to watch Neighbors get his first PAC-12 win over Arizona this past weekend.

1) In this frame we see a clear out by the 3 on the wing.
 2) As this is happening, Plum delivers the ball to the post around the arc area.

1) Once the left handed Plum has delivered the ball to the post, she will take a step or two towards the bucket. This is important, because if the defense does not jump to the basket - she can have an easy basket cut and score off of this pass.
 2) Now with the flare screen set up, 4 will set the screen and 5 will deliver the ball to Plum on time, on target for the jumper.
 3) In this game Plum went on to score 23 points. As a freshman, Plum has made a big impact already for the Huskies.

1) Another look that the Huskies gained off of this set on this night was when the defense cheated the screen on Plum.
 2) This allowed the player in the 4 spot to slip right to the rim for an easy bucket.
 3) And since coach Neighbors had overloaded the ball side, there is no helpside to take away this slip.
