

- 1) The Florida Gators found themselves tied with Alabama at the half after coach Anthony Grant switched to a 2-3 zone in the half court.
- 2) Coach Billy Donovan got his Gator team to execute in the half court & got space for his shooter.
- 3) This is an overload set that will work even if you do not have a 4th 3pt shooter on the floor.

- 1) To create the distortion in the zone, the post player steps up to screen the inside part of the zone.
- 2) The point guard makes a cut to the basket after throwing to the wing.

- 1) Notice that both guards have now fought to stop penetration from the wing. Both are now guarding the ball, which is a big "no-no" from a defensive standpoint.
- 2) The ball is quickly swung back to the wing and the post player dives hard into the lane to seal.
- 3) Along the baseline, the point guard makes the 2nd cut to this corner.

- 1) Here is where Florida got their open 3 point shooter.
- 2) 3 had to slide hard up to cover 2 to prevent an open shot from the wing.
- 3) 5 had sealed hard in the lane, which left 1 with a wide open shot.
