

1) This 5 out offense is designed to open the floor and create space for passing and cutting.
 2) In this frame we see the wing v-cutting to get open to catch on the wing.
 3) Also notice how the 1 "face-cuts" the defender at the top key - this is the easiest way to get a quick bucket.

1) In this frame, we see what happens away from the ball. 3 tries cut in front of the defense to get a quick pass in the lane. This works well if the defense does not "jump" to the ball.
 2) If the defense takes away the flash, then 4 will flash to the top of the key for the reversal pass.

1) Now with the ball at the top of the key, the ball will be reversed to the opposite wing.
 2) We see 4 here makes a "back-cut" because the defense has taken away the "face-cut." The idea is still to run this cut all the way to the rim.

1) We repeat the same action on this side. 2 Will cut hard into the lane trying to cut in front of x2.
 2) 5 will replace at the top of the key for the reversal. And this action will continue.
 3) A simple way to remember where to end up is "Everyone slides down a spot until you hit the bottom on the pass."
